

IVETA'S ANNUAL AWARDS - Description

Each year IVETA makes awards to recognize significant contributions made by individuals and organisations to the development of international vocational education and training and for service or support to the Association. The awards are announced and presented at the Awards Luncheon at IVETA's Annual Conference and Business Meeting in November or December.

The Silvius-Wolansky Award - to an Outstanding Leader in Technical Vocational Education and Training

Awarded to an individual, not necessarily a member of IVETA, who has made a significant contributions to the advancement of technical vocational education and training at the local, national, and international levels. The recipient receives an engraved plaque and an honorarium of $300 (subject to available funding).

This award honours the work of Dr G Harold Silvius and Dr William Wolansky, outstanding leaders committed to vocational education and training and supportive of international programs, and is sponsored by Iowa State University. IVETA administers the award and is responsible for ensuring global representation when selecting the recipient

The Joel Magisos Exceptional Service Award

Recognizes long-term individual achievement in support of IVETA. Particular attention is placed on activities relating to the continuing development and growth of the organisation. A nominee must be a current member of IVETA, who has been involved in Association activities over several years. The recipient receives an engraved plaque.

The award honours the contributions to IVETA of Joel Magisos, a sustaining Charter Member.

The Valued Supporter of IVETA Award

Awarded to an individual for exceptional support during the present year. Activities may include membership recruitment, fund raising, organisation of conference programs and work on Association publications. A nominee must be a current member of IVETA who has preferably been involved in Association activities for several years. The recipient receives an engraved plaque.

The Robert D Cain Business/Organization Award

Awarded to a company, government agency or educational institution, in recognition of support to IVETA. Support such as sponsorship of Association programs, conference activities, work release for Association participation, publicity and publication assistance may be included. Plaques are awarded for continuing support and Certificates for new or specific support.

Robert D Cain was a long-term business member who made significant contributions to IVETA.

Nominations from all IVETA Members are called for annually and should be made in writing and include supporting information that describes relevant activities and achievements of the nominee and sent to the Chairman of the Awards Committee, currently Dr. Christopher Parkin, chparkin@msn.com to whom queries can be addressed. Note: Nominations for the Silvius-Wolansky Award must be submitted through the member's Regional Vice- President.
